There was a reunion of the Webb family at Elias Webb's yesterday. Forty-two were present at dinner—five generations—with the great-grandmother, the widow of Wash Webb, hale and hearty. The reunion was given in honor of her son, Richard Webb, who has been in Venatchee, Washington, for the past eleven years, this being his first visit home. The table certainly did groan under the load of good things to eat until we got to it and relieved it of a goodly portion. I could not begin to tell you what it all was, for Mrs. Elias Webb is such a fine cook and hostess that she gets up many delicious dishes that the writer does not know. We had a lovely day and all promised if we did not meet here any more we would try to meet in heaven.

OBITUARY.

Ida Webb, wife of Andy Webb, Jr., departed this life September 1, 1904. She was a member of the M. E. Church, South, having been taken into the church and baptized on the 12th day of June, 1904, by Rev. R. H. Cassidy. She was a daughter of Covey Adams and was a good Christian girl, loved by all who knew her. She leaves a husband and two little children and many friends and relatives to mourn her loss. She died with that dread disease, consumption, which is so common in our country. When death was doing its work upon her life, she said to her sister-in-law, Mrs. Lindsay Webb: "Am I not dying?" And when her husband came in she said, "Andy, I am dying," and then called her two little children to her and told the older one to be a good child, go to school and mind her papa and remember her mamma, and then kissed them good-bye and expired.

She heard the trumpet blow. The gladsly solemn sound. Let all the nations know. To earth's remotest bound. The time of jubilee is come: Return ye ransomed loved ones home.

THE WATER WORKS.

From the torn-up condition of our streets one would naturally suppose there was something doing; and there is. On Perry, Main and Madison streets the water mains are being put down as fast as a large force of men can do it. It is understood that similar work will be done on Lady Washington and the other streets parallel with the river just as soon as some connecting castings are received, and these are expected very soon. Work on the reservoir is being pushed, and as matters now look, it is only reasonable to look for water in our streets before snow falls. Now, as to the size of these mains: When the pipe was first seen they were—and are by many—viewed with much distrust. It was not the small diameter, particularly, that caused apprehension, but the thickness. As The News understands it the pipe is of what is technically known as sixteen gauge, that is, one-sixteenth of an inch thick. Of course, many who have seen water mains half an inch thick or one inch thick declared that this pipe would burst with a pressure sufficient to throw water on a burning building, and this principally, is what we want water for. Such apprehension is groundless. It is a fact—and The News gets its information from a hydraulic engineer in no wise connected with or interested in the water works company, that this spiral riveted, asphalted pipe, sixteen gauge, four inches in diameter, will stand a bursting pressure of fifteen hundred pounds to the square inch.
Now will you be good? It is not pressure which is feared in using this pipe, but the corroding action of the water, and this will injure any pipe not prepared to withstand the action of the water of the Big Sandy. To combat this action as effectively as possible the pipe now being laid is thoroughly asphalted, and on this coating water has no effect whatever. And to more thoroughly guard against corrosion on any surface rendered bare by scratching or otherwise, as the pipe is laid it receives a heavy coating of coal tar, so that as far as it is possible to make it the pipe is completely protected before it is covered up.

Whether the mains will prove to have sufficient capacity or not can only be determined by experience.
Twenty feet of pipe, whose inside diameter is four inches, will hold 15 gallons of water. The entire amount, available for extraordinary purposes, it seems to us, is small, but it may be sufficient.

If the reservoir be well built and of ample capacity, and all necessary precaution be made against those things that usually interfere with steady water service, the system will be well patronized.

A Homicidal Mania.

The News regrets to chronicle the lawless deeds which have been perpetrated in the Sandy Valley so recently, but the duty of a newspaper to the public demands it, painful as that duty may be. One day last week, date not now remembered, a negro employed in one of the railroad camps on the West Virginia side of the river, not far from Lock No. 2, struck a boy named Johnson on the head with a pick handle, and from the effects of the blow the boy died last Saturday. Johnson was employed in the same camp as a water boy. It was his duty to carry water to the laborers, white and black, and had been ordered to serve the white men first. On the occasion mentioned he had brought a pail of water, and the negro who committed the crime called him to give him a drink. Acting upon his orders the boy refused until after he had gone to the whites. This incensed the negro, and seizing the pick handle he struck the boy a fearful blow on the head. The lad dropped to the ground and the negro fled, thus far eluding his pursuers. The unfortunate boy was a son of Lem Johnson and a grandson of the venerable John T. Johnson, the well-known Southern Methodist minister and noted ex-Confederate Chaplain.

On the day the victim of the above narrated tragedy died Hubbardston, a mining town in West Virginia, about 9 miles below this city, was the scene of what appears to have been a deliberate murder. William Davis kept a general store in Hubbardston, and in this store on Saturday was a man named Young, who lived on Hurricane creek, not far from the little town. What really occurred in the house between him and Davis can not be ascertained. The two men quarreled, and Young went out.
He was unarmed and made no demonstrations towards Davis who, it is said,

COUNTY FAIR

To Be Held At Louisa October 6, 7 and 8.

The date decided upon for the Lawrence County fair this year is October 6, 7 and 8.

Our farmers are requested to bring in for exhibit all the various kinds of products heretofore shown at these fairs, as well as any others worthy of display.
The first day will be ladies' day, and all are urged to enter their exhibits promptly on the morning of that day. Also, all entries for the two following days should be made the first day, so as to give the secretary time to get proper record and avoid confusion.

The State Commissioner of Agriculture has been invited to be present and is expected to be here.

It has been decided to put the fair upon a slightly different basis this year.

The chief aim has always been one of education, seeking to awaken new interest in farming and raise the standard of this great industry. We congratulate ourselves that much good has been accomplished. Heretofore small presumes have been used to stimulate the interest. It is now believed that the enterprise has reached the point where the interest is sufficient to put the fair on its proper basis and do away with prizes. Ribbons representing the decisions of the judges will be used. No entry fee will be charged. It is hoped and believed that our people will take as much interest in securing the fine ribbon, or other ribbons indicating excellent quality, as in procuring a small cash prize. This is the higher idea and the one that will result in advancing agriculture and stock raising. So let all join in with enthusiasm and help to show the best of everything we produce.

Via the R. R. Extension.

In going to Paintsville by rail the most noticeable thing, to one who has seen Whitehouse on the arrival of the morning train, is the comparative quiet, almost stagnation in the latter place. For years Whitehouse was the eastern terminus of the O. & B. S. division, C. & O.
Ry., and was the point from which in low water, all supplies for the upper Sandy and adjacent regions were sent. A half dozen or more backs were waiting to carry passengers, and as many hotels and restaurants had runners out for the hungry. The big freight depot was never empty, and it took more than one steamboat and dozens of push-boats to carry the thousands of tons of freight to other points along the river. But the hotels are closed, most of them, the runners have gone fishing, probably, and were it not for the big coal mining and handling of the Whitehouse Coal Company, the place would be dull indeed. At the Paintsville station all is life and bustle. The station is a very handsome building, on the upper side of Paint creek, in a fine location, with ample room for side-tracks, switches, etc., and is probably a mile from the town of Paintsville, or the town is a mile from the depot, just as you like. Here you are met by the same old hacks, waiting to carry you to Paintsville, or Prestonsburg, twelve miles further up the river. By the way, track is now laid to a point only one mile from this latter town. Only a few yards from the Paintsville depot a man named Sweet has opened a very good hotel, and for a good while he will coin the shekels. The morning train arrives at 10-55 and leaves at 12-15, going plenty of time to go to the town of Paintsville, transact business and return after dinner.

The nine or ten miles of extension now operated already show signs of the healthful, helpful influence of a railroad, and the improvement will be more marked as the business goes on. There are two flag stations between Whitehouse and Paintsville—River and Meeks, and they will probably be one more.
From Ashland to Paintsville it is sixty-six miles, and the fare is two dollars, one dollar and twenty cents from Louisa. Within the memory of many it took two days to go from Paintsville to Ashland in low water.
Then the traveler was often compelled to wait a day or more for a boat, and then consume two more days on the river. Now he can eat his breakfast in Paintsville and supper the same day in Cincinnati, with four hours to spare in Ashland.

ence, of the M. E. Church, South,

"BLACK MAMMY"

"HELL BROKE LOOSE ON CAT."

PERSONALS.

This declaration of a native who was asked what was the matter about tells the story of an awful tragedy which so fearfully marred the otherwise quiet beauty of a September Sabbath night, and added a new, deeper scar to a section of Lawrence county, already seared and disfigured by more than a dozen lawless outbreaks. This occurred, too, in what should have been a sanctuary—a place too holy and sacred for aught save that for which it was erected and dedicated—the worship of God. But on this fatal night the floor of Polly's Chapel, a country church on Cat's Fork of Big Blaine, was drenched with the life blood of "Buck" Daniels, who it is charged, was stabbed to death by John Ledman, and who died, in the language of a participant, "Just as soon as he could after he war hit!"— meaning that he died almost as soon as he received the fatal thrust.

Daniels was not the only one injured. John Holbrook, son of a man familiarly known as "One-Eyed William" Holbrook, whose home is near Overda postoffice, was dangerously wounded by knife thrusts made by John Daniels, a nephew of the man who was killed. Daniels was arrested by Constable William Hughes, who brought him to Louisa Monday, and put him in jail. Reports concerning Ledman are vague and conflicting. One hour we hear that he is under guard near the scene of the killing, and the next moment it is said that he has fled to parts unknown. Indeed, it was said on the streets Tuesday that John Daniels, the man under arrest and confined to await an examination for the wounding of Holbrook, is really the man who killed his uncle Buck. John told a News man that all he was in for was an assault on Lindsay Webb, an excellent man, a son of Andy Webb.

In truth, information of a thoroughly reliable sort concerning this latest tragedy is hard to get. John Daniels says "We was all a drinkin'!" This tells part of the story, and anyhow, you may safely bet that this much is true. He also says he thinks there was an old grudge between his uncle Buck and Ledman.
There were a good many people in the little church on the fatal night, but the preacher, Franklin Boggs, had not begun service.

Buck Daniels was a man probably 55 years of age, and had a wife and five children. John Daniels is a single man, 25 years old.

An examining trial of this awful case is set for today, and it is possible that some light will be thrown upon this, another dark blot on the county of Lawrence.

Pocketbook Recovered.

York, Pa., September 5.—Rev.
Frederick F. Shannon, of this city, has just come into possession of his pocketbook, containing much money and valuables, which was lost one year ago, and which had given him much uneasiness. The story of its recovery reads like a romance.

Last September, a year ago, Mr.
Shannon and wife left here to visit his parents in Kentucky. While on their way aboard the train, Mr.
Shannon lost his pocketbook.

The book was picked up by a small girl on the train, who took it to her home, at Luke, Md. The little girl talked about her rich find to some of the neighbors.

Meantime, the father, O. D. Williams, a mill boss, took possession of the pocketbook and locked it up.

Nothing was heard of the pocketbook until about two weeks ago, when Mr. Shannon received a letter from Luke, Md., from a Mr. A.
Jones, stating that he had information of importance concerning him.

Mr. Shannon replied, and another letter came back telling him of the pocketbook. He immediately went to Maryland, met the Mr.
Jones, and straightway called upon Williams. The pastor gave a complete description of the pocketbook, which contained $275 in money and a note for $350 drawn on the Rev. Wesley Hill, of Harrington, Pa., a number of railroad clerical tickets and other valuable papers.

The description was so complete that Williams said: "Well, I guess you are the man," and going to the upper part of the house, brought down the book with its contents unmoistened.

Taking the pocketbook, the preacher placed it in his inside coat pocket, thanked Williams politely and left the home. The reward was given to Jones, and not to Williams.

A very swell wedding occurred at Prestonsburg Wednesday night of last week, the occasion being the marriage of Miss Josephine Hopkins to Mr. Thomas Edward Dim-mick. The bride is the very pretty and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hopkins, of Prestonsburg, her father being the valued and able member Congress from the Tenth Kentucky District.

Mr. Dimmick is a very popular and worthy young man, brother of Mr.
George Dimmick, whose wife was a daughter Capt. John Hopkins, and a cousin of the bride. Mr. and Mrs.
Dimmick will make an extensive Western tour and return to make their home in Prestonsburg.

The new railway station is very rapidly nearing completion. The concrete walls are finished, and the floors, also of concrete, will be completed this week. The putting in of the doors and windows and the painting of the interior will finish the job.

Never in this part of the country has there been shown a more attractive display of really beautiful and modish designs at such positively reasonable prices.

You may not be quite ready to select your Fall and Winter hat—that will not make any difference and is all the better reason why you should come to see what the new styles are like. Getting your Fall and Winter hat is an important matter. It means something to look well in, or something you are disappointed with every time you put it on—and that makes you diss

THE GUARDIAN OF OUR BODY.

The foremost biologist of our day, M. Metchnikoff, has shown the world of science that there are leucocytes in our blood that act as scavengers or policemen. These policemen which are called phagocytes look out for the noxious or poisonous elements in our blood. Various offending elements are picked out of the blood and taken by these policemen and destroyed. Therefore our lives are protected by these blood-cell-policemen, the phagocytes, and we enjoy immunity from disease so long as our blood contains plenty of phagocytes and red blood corpuscles.

"A new broom sweeps clean"—and in order to get rid of all the poisons in the blood with a new broom, we need an alternative extract made from roots and herbs—without the use of alcohol, as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a specific for making rich red blood—for eradicating the poisons from the blood. In some way the policemen in the blood are increased in number and strength—so that we are put in the best possible shape to resist disease—to cure rheumatism, colds, catarrh, and incipient consumption.

The more study and time is given to the subject the more we find that the blood is the center of life—says Dr. R. V. Pierce, the noted specialist of Buffalo, "the heart and comfort of the body depend entirely on this blood supply—for the health must have pure blood or it will not pump and keep the body supplied regularly with the beautiful animal engine it is. The nerves must be fed on pure blood—or we suffer the pain of rheumatism, which is the cry of the starved nerves for food. Headaches, colds in the head, catarrh, and many other things are due to stagnation of the blood."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a mild laxative. No other medicine cleanses so gently and thoroughly.

Two of the most interesting automata now working within the limits of the United States are those used by the Government for counting and tying postal cards in small bundles. These machines are capable of counting 500,000 cards in ten hours and wrapping and tying the same in packages of twenty-five each. In this operation the paper is pulled off a drum by two long "fingers," which come up from below, and another finger dips in a vat of mullage and applies itself to the wrapper paper in exactly the right spot. Other parts of the machine twine the paper around the pack of cards and then a "thumb" presses over the spot where the mullage is, and the package is thrown upon a carry belt ready for delivery.

Feet Swollen to Immense Size.

"I had kidney trouble so bad that I could not work," says J. J. Cox of Valley View, Ky., "my feet were swollen to immense size and I was confined to my bed. My physicians were unable to give me any relief. My doctor finally prescribed-Foley's Kidney Cure which made a well man of me." Sold by Louisa Drug Co.

In Praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

"Allow me to give you a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Mr. John Hamlet, of Eagle Pass, Texas. "I suffered one week with bowel trouble and took all kinds of medicine without getting any relief, when my friend, Mr. C. Johnson, a merchant here, advised me to take this remedy. After taking one dose I felt greatly relieved and when I had taken the third dose was entirely cured. I thank you from the bottom of my heart for putting this great remedy in the hands of mankind." SOFT CORE

Like the running brook, the red blood that flows through the veins has to come from somewhere.

The springs of red blood are found in the soft core of the bones called the marrow and some say red blood also comes from the spleen. Healthy bone marrow and healthy spleen are full of fat.

Scott's Emulsion makes new blood by feeding the bone marrow and the spleen with the richest of all fats, the pure cod liver oil.

For pale school girls and thin and for all whose blood is thin and pale, Scott's Emulsion is a pleasant and rich food. It not only feeds the blood-making organs but gives them strength to do their proper work.

Emergency Medicines.

It is a great convenience to have at hand reliable remedies for use in cases of accident and for slight injuries and ailments. A good liniment and one that is fast becoming a favorite if not a household necessity is Chamberlain's Pain Balm. By applying it promptly to a cut, bruise or burn it allays the pain and causes the injury to heal in about one-third the time usually required, and as it is an antiseptic it prevents any danger of blood poisoning. When Pain Balm is kept at hand a pain may be treated before inflammation sets in, which insures a quick recovery. For sale by A. M. Hughes.
